On the 19th of May 2011, I was dispatched to Woodland Hills regarding a request for a keep the peace while individuals retrieved property from a home. Upon arrival I met with the complainant and two of his family members who advised their father had passed away and his live in girlfriend was still living in the residence and had been removing items without permission. They advised the home was in their mother's name and the live in girl friend had no right to be in the home. We responded to the residence and made contact with the live in girl friend who refused to allow the family members into the home and she asked them to consult with her attorney. The live in girlfriend later contacted me and told me she was going to be moving out of the house in the next couple of days and claimed all the furniture (antiques) she had removed were joint property of her and her deceased boyfriend. I also referred her to the attorneys and advised her it appeared to be a civil case. No further action taken. Case closed. WH200
